THE ROYAL GEORGE.—The old framed building on the northwest corner of Cameron and Royal streets, now being demolished in order that a new three story brick building may be erected on its site. was once called the "Royal George Tavern," and was built before the Revolutionary War. A Revolutionary soldier named Francis Hagan, who is doubtless remembered by many of the older residents of this city, told one of that class that he and his brother "took the bounty" on the pavement before that house -which must have been as far back as the year 1776, as his brother was killed at Princeton, which battle was fought just after the surprise of the Hessians, at Trenton, on Christmas morning of 1776. During Monroe's administration an act of Congress was passed granting some pay or gratuity to the soldiers of the revolution and Mr. Hagan, who was very far from being a pauper, being told he was not needy enough to get the benefit of the act, determined to see the Presidear, who received him very kindly and asked him to what corps he belonged. He replied Gen. Reed's. Why, said Mr. Monroe, I ought to know you, as I was a cornet in that corps. Yes, said Hagan you were, I remember you well. You succeeded, Walt Peyton who was killed by another officer in a duel. That is correct, said the President. When told his name the President said he remembered him well. The next thing the President said was, it must appear that you were honorably discharged. Hagan said he was and had afterwards joined Lee's Legion. The President sent a messenger to the War Department, who soon returned with a bundle of papers, which on examination shewed the honorable discharge of the veteran. The President then gave him a note to the proper officer, who paid him what was due to him, including the back pay or arrears. He returned to Alexan fria a happy man. The old house was occapied as a tavero for many years after the revolutionary war. For some years before and some time after the war of 1812 it was kept by a Mr. Hucore, and some of the players of the Phil del phis Pacificate to apany which came here every year boarded there. Since then it has been occupied by many different persons and been used for various purposes, the fast of which being, as a shoe maker's shop and as a Magistrates

THE PILOTS .- It is understood that some of the pilots of the Potomac river are opposed to his house near the Catholic burying ground, the provisions of the bill lately forwarded by the Corn Exchange to the Legistature, to be enacted as a law. The pilots present at the meeting which endorsed the hill were all in favor of it. In this connection it is stated, according to the New York Herald, that Mr. H. Harbinson, a delegate from the Pilots' Association of New York, has been to Washington were out. Four suspicious looking characters to protest against a proposed provision in the new bill of Mr. Lynch, of the committee to investigate the causes of the decline in American commence. The provision objected to by the pilots of the country is one proposing an entire change in the pilot system, taking its rerulation from States and placing it exclusively under the jurisdiction of Congress. Some of the shipowners have complained that the present system is injurious to their business; that the pilot charges are too high and the compulsory provisions tyrannical-that is, that part of existing laws which compels masters of vessels to accept the first pilot that offers his services when they arrive near their port of destination. The pilots declare that the present law is the best that could be devised, and that to change it will be to emourage incompetent pilots, and thus ruin the business of a large and useful class, who have made the calling the study of their lives. They contend that the compulsory part of the existing law is mutual, obliging pilets to go with any vessel that hails them, just as well as vessels are required to accept the services of the first pilot that offers.

Will Nor Work .- One of the proprietors of a large fishing shore on the Potomae was in this city to-day for the purpose of engaging hands, but was unable to obtain the force he wanted. He said he found hundreds of idle coland men but could not induce them to leave the city though he offered them excellent wages, better than he had ever agreed to pay before. He went to Washington and met with the same experience there, but in that city he got some white men to go with him.

ROBBERY. - The office of the wood yard of Mr. C. Augur, corner of Prince and St. Asaph streets, was broken open last night, and the anney drawer of the desk robbed of its contents some four or five dollars, in change, and some receisted bills against parties in the city to be presented this morning. The thieves left a large and curiously shaped knife which they had used in opening the desk.

FRESH FISH .-- Three boat loads of fresh fish strived up last night and early this morning. They came from Navjemoy Reach, and con tained about 900 bunches of rock, perch and like, and 100 bunches of herring. They were sold to the hucksters for about 22 cents a bunch, and were retailed in the market afterwards at 60 cents a bunch, after the bunches had been reduced in size.

A. & FREDERICKSBURG R. R.—The Fred ericksburg. Herald says, there was a large at tendance at Stafford Court, last Wednesday, and that the "Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railroad will receive the hearty support of the people of the county. Many are ready to give the right of way, to receive the location through their lands."

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE

FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, Feb. 18-3 p. m.

CONGRESS. In the Senate, to-day, the chair taid before the Senate a communication from the President in answer to a Senate resolution asking for information relative to the amount expended in the defence of suits before the Court of laims, coclosing the information asked for.

Mr. Summer presented a memorial of the medical faculty of Harvard University, asking that proper rank be afforded medical officers of the navy.

Mr. Sherman presented a number of memorials in tayor of the recognition of Cuban in-tependence. Mr. Johnston presented the memorial o Wm. A. Lash and others, asking a remission of taxes on distilled spirits-referred.

Mr. Sumner sent to the Secretary's desk to be read a dispatch from the Governor of Nebraska, announcing that that State had adopt ed the 15th Amendment with but five dessenting votes; one in the Senate and four in the

Mr. Sumner reported a bill to create the office of solicitor of the State Department and an additional clerk.

Mr. Trumbuli opposed the creation of law officers in each of the departments, and favored the concentration of the law business of the government in the Attorney General's office. Mr. Sumner urged the passage of the bill, but it was laid aside. The Senate then took up and passed a bil allowing 8 per cent interest in the District of Columbia, when the parties agreed thereto. The subject of the International Exhibition at Washington was then taken up and advocated by Mr. Hamlin and opposed by Mr. Morrill. In the House of Representatives Mr. Mc combined House and Senate bill for the removal of disabilities before the House, Mr. Daws had the floor on the appropriation bill which came over from yesterday. Mr. Butier's bill referring the disabled for redress to the courts of the U.S. had priority to the bill which Mr. McKenzie desired to Mr. Dawes offered to yield the floor for the consideration of the latter bill, but Gen. But ler refused to allow this bill to take the prece dence of his bill. Mr. Daws then said that as it was evident that the time of the House would be frittered away in the contest between the two bills, he must decline to yield. So the disability bill went over and the appropriation bill was taken up. The President communicated several messages to the House, among them one giving minute particulars of the recent assassination of Americans at Havana. MISCELLANEOUS.

This morning Mr. Segar made a further argument before the House Committee on Elec tions in support of his claim as member at large from the State of Virginia. The committee have decided to take a vote on his case on Monday next.

Gen, Butler and his friends succeeded this morning in preventing the consideration of the disabilities bill. The bill, however, will be taken up as soon as a vote is had on the pending appropriation bill-perhaps this after-

In the Supreme Court the Bennett-Hunter ax sile case was postponed until Monday. During Mr. Reed's mission to China the Thinese government placed in the hands of the State Department here $500,000 to be used in settling claims which American citizens held against China by reason of the destruction of certain American property in the Celestial Empire. When these claims were audited by the State Department, it was found that several hundred thousand dollars would remain over without claimants. This sum has been in the and profusble. Persons of either sex easily State Department ever since, the Chinese government refusing, on some point of Oriental etiquette, to receive back the overplus. Of late it was proposed to use this fund in aid of erecting a new State Department. A project, however, is now on foot under the auspices of Chinese in the languages and sciences of both nations. This, it is supposed, will introduce to our knowledge a class of learned and thoughtful Chinese heretolore entirely seeluded from our observation.

Earthquake. San Francisco, Feb. 17 .- An earthquake visited this city to-day, causing the hotels and public buildings to be vacated instanter. The streets were filled with people before the shock had hardly ceased. Fortunately it occured about the time of the recess in the public schools and many children were out playing. In the schools which were in session, the teachers managed to keep the children under control, though in one of the schools the misses created quite a panie. The Custom House was unit-jured, but was soon emptied of its oc-

The cracks made by the October shock in some of the older buildings were widened a little, but no material damage was sustained.

SECOND DISPATCH. San Francisco, Feb. 17.-The shock was at 12 o'clock and thirteen minutes; duration, seven seconds; direction from Southeast to Northwest. There was a general panic, but no damage was sustained to buildings. The shock was felt at Sacramento, Santa Cruz, San Jose, Oakland, and other places. Funeral services were being held in Washington street Baptist church, and there was a large atten dates. At the first tremble the paster and congregation rushed for the doors and several ladies fainted but no one was seriously injured.

The old frame buildings on the wharves swayed and creaked, but the waters in the bay showed no unusual commotion, The shock was quite heavy at Peraluma eausing the people to vacate the brick buildings. The weather was clear, and warm at the time, but it is raining this evening.
